Established cellular industry and performance standards serve as the foundation for the Verizon Wireless engineering, design, operation and quality assurance programs. We have adopted the ISO 27001 Security standard in all our corporate policies. These policies cover security issues, such as account management, password standards, server configuration and a wide range of security topics.

In accordance with Title 16 Chapter 61E of the Code of Alabama 1975 (Section 16-61E-1), Verizon Wireless qualifies to submit a response for the Invitation to Bid as its affiliated company, Verizon Business Network Services, has ISO 9001 certification. A copy of Verizon Business Network Services' ISO certification is included herein under the ISO Certification Information section.

Verizon Wireless and Verizon Business Network Services is under common ownership by Verizon Communications, Inc. See the attached Assistant Secretary's Certificate for detailed information about ownership below.

WARRANTY INFORMATION - REQUIRED

Verizon Wireless will reasonably assist ALSDE with obtaining repair or replacement of equipment under warranty. However, Verizon Wireless is not an equipment manufacturer. As part of the wireless handset equipment package, ALSDE will receive the manufacturer's consumer warranty, typically one (1) year in length. If equipment is within the warranty period, warranty-covered costs for defect or failure should be covered by the manufacturer. Some equipment may need to be returned directly to the manufacturer for repair under the warranty guidelines.

In the event that the subscriber's equipment is no longer covered under the manufacturer's warranty, additional charges for repair may apply, and it may be more cost efficient for the subscriber to purchase new equipment.

New Equipment

Subscribers may return wireless equipment purchased from Verizon Wireless for any reason (whether defective or not) within 30 days of the original date of purchase.

Defective Equipment

If a handset is found to be defective more than 30 days after the purchase date, and the malfunctioning device is still within the manufacturer's warranty period (typically one year), the subscriber may obtain a Certified Like-New Replacement device in exchange for the defective unit at no charge. [Netbooks must be shipped directly to the manufacturer for repairs; for high-end tablets we will send the subscriber a Recovery Box and the subscriber will ship the device to our warehouse where it will be examined and if the defect is covered under the manufacturer's warranty a replacement device will be shipped to the subscriber.] The remaining unused term of the original manufacturer equipment warranty or a total of 90 calendar days, whichever is greater, will transfer to the exchanged unit.

Note on all Certified Like New Replacements: Subscribers are eligible for a refurbished handset unit if device is defective as defined in the manufacturer's warranty. Certified Like New Replacements will be either the same make/model as the defective unit or a comparable model (subject to availability). Equipment subjected to neglect, misuse, water damage, wear and tear, and the like are not eligible for any return or exchange program.

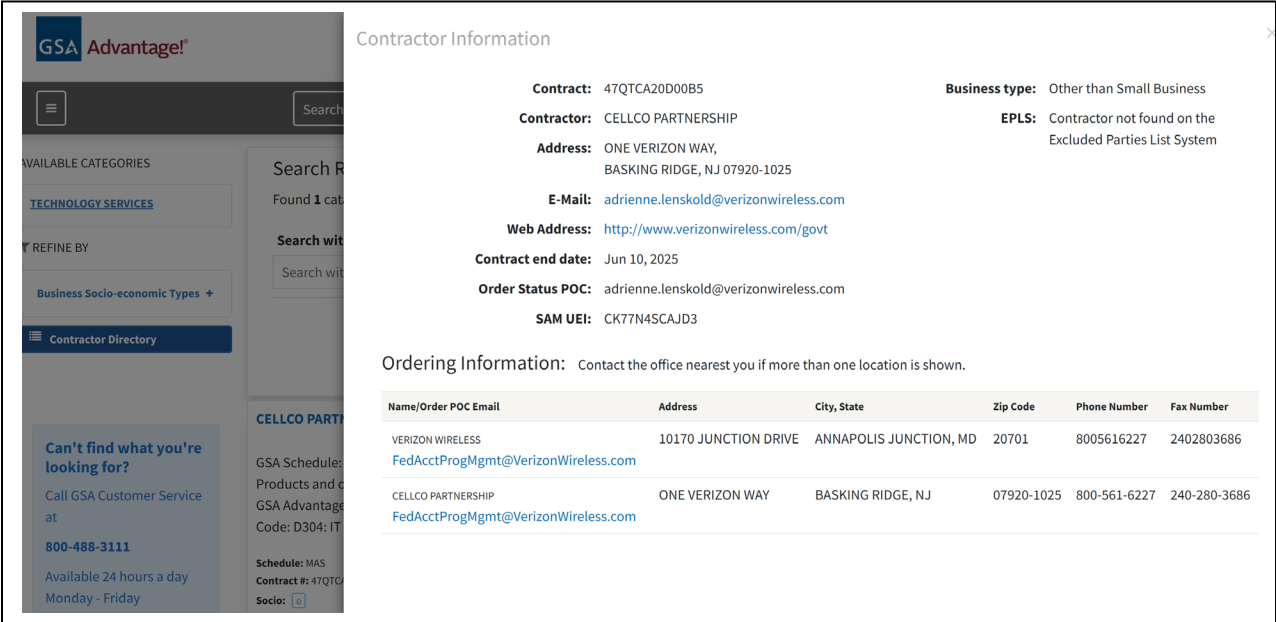

Standard Upgrade

Wireless equipment that has been in service for a minimum of 10 months is eligible for an equipment upgrade at the Government discounted pricing regardless of contract vehicle chosen. If the equipment is upgraded or replaced due to loss or theft of the device prior to completing 10 months of service, full retail price may be charged.
